Students from refugee backgrounds

Refugees were forced to leave their country due to persecution in the context of political conflict, organised violence and human rights violations. Due to refugee trauma and the stressors of resettlement, children and young people from refugee backgrounds can have difficulties at school, including learning and behavioural problems, and making new friends.

How STARTTS helps schools

STARTTS helps students from refugee backgrounds through individual and group counselling, fun group activities and other types of services. This can lead to better mental health and resilience, and improved school performance. STARTTS also provides support to school personnel.

How much do services cost?

All STARTTS services to refugee students are free of charge.

My student doesn't speak English

Many STARTTS staff are bilingual, and all use professional interpreters when required.

Referring to STARTTS

STARTTS accepts referrals from any source, including self-referrals.

To make a referral to STARTTS:

 Call (02) 9646 6800

 Email STTS-IntakeGeneral@health.nsw.gov.au
(referral form available on the STARTTS website)

Requesting consent

Consent must be obtained from the parent/guardian. It is helpful to explain services in a non-threatening way, e.g. "Someone to talk to about their difficulties at school".

Referral information required

Provide as much information as possible so the intake counsellor can assess the student's needs.

How soon will we follow-up?

There is a waiting list, but we aim for all child and adolescent referrals to be allocated to a STARTTS counsellor within 2-3 weeks.

What feedback will you get?

The STARTTS counsellor allocated to the student will notify the school of this and when the intervention has concluded. Information will be shared with the consent of the parent/carer and child.

When a referral is not appropriate

Refer students in a crisis situation (e.g. psychotic disorders, suicide attempts) to the mental health crisis team or a hospital emergency department.
